

A Trauma-Sensitive Toolbox for Teachers:

Meeting the needs of all learners in Christian schools within a fallen and broken world

Monday, June 19, 2017

8:30 a.m. - 3:30 p.m.

Friends of Concordia Seminar Room

Concordia University Wisconsin's Mequon Campus

In today's world it is imperative that educators understand the impact of adverse and traumatic events on children's physiology and brain functioning as well as how those manifest themselves in their actions and interactions with others, particularly in school. Such understanding will enable educators to become trauma responsive.

This full day seminar will provide background and resources related to trauma along with specific strategies on how to coach students to manage their brain and their actions within school and, ultimately, begin to learn how to cope and compensate more successfully within the classroom and life. This seminar has been designed for educators in Christian schools but is useful for a teacher in any setting.

I highly recommend this seminar for teachers, pastors, administrators, and others who have a desire to minister to children and provide a 'safe place' for them to learn and grow. Dr. Uden shares research and experiences related to children impacted by trauma in an engaging, thought provoking manner. This workshop will change the way you think about and, more importantly, respond to children in your classroom who may be reacting to life experiences that have for them produced distrust, despair, and disconnect.
